The word "detox" instantly calls to mind extreme diets, peculiar supplements and a lot of willpower. The aim: a fresh, glowing and younger-looking complexion, thanks to ridding your body of the toxins that could be clogging your lymphatic system.

Fresver Beauty's IVR Plus Face Treatment ($380) – IVR stands for "immunity, vitality and rejuvenation" – promises to deliver those benefits to your complexion and help keep the lymphatic system healthy. The secret? Special massage techniques designed to stimulate the lymphatic system's natural flow by unclogging pathways in the face, eyes, neck, chest and shoulders. Such stimulation of the lymphatic system is also believed to help your skin rid itself of bacteria and pollution. The results are achieved entirely through hand massage techniques to allow excess fluids and toxins to drain away so your complexion looks brighter, less puffy and smoother.

The massage uses essential oils, custom-blended for your skin type, and involves smooth, relaxing and rhythmic strokes, so that you will feel as good as you look after.
